THE BAYONEL

Group of Governor's Club Winners at Vancouver at Statue of Captain George Vancouver, City Hall.

Tuesday at 8:15 in the morning we were the "Stars" at a mass meeting of the Vancouver staff. It was nice meeting so many former Winnipeggers..

As a memento of our trip we were each given a framed picture of Vancouver, something we shall always cherish. After a tour of the store we lunched at the Royal Yacht Club, a beautiful spot overlooking the Pacific.

In the afternoon the "Happy Gang" enjoyed every minute of the tour along Marine Drive. That evening we visited Chinatown and had some unusual dishes at "Mings" amid beautiful surroundings.

Our final thrill came in a visit to the Theatre Under the Stars in Stanley Park. We saw and heard Sweethearts, a very pleasing musical, beautifully presented and a great credit to all.

One cannot find words adequate enough to thank our Vancouver hosts—Miss R. Le Blanc, Mssrs. L. Madden, D. Gourlay, L. H. Thorlakson and R. Had daway—and of course The Company—for making such a grand holiday possible. It was decidedly worth working for, fellow employees!

Fred Upjohn

Fred Upjohn — 30 Years

Mr. Upjohn is a very familiar figure around the Delivery Department. He has just celebrated 30 years of faithful service with the Bay.

Freddie, as he is always called, was born in Devonshire, England and came to Canada in 1920. He was in this country for only a month when he started work in the grocery department in the old Main Street store. A year or so later he was transferred to the Delivery where he has served ever since as a driver. One of his various duties in that department is to deliver "specials" on all routes. Is it any wonder that Fred knows every nook and corner of Winnipeg?

Fred is an enthusiastic football and hockey fan and has even participated in a good deal of football in the past. He's a singer and entertainer too and has been a stand-by in the Christmas choir for many years. He has also served faithfully on the Beaver Club Executive.

Best wishes Fred and many more happy years with the Bay.

Peter Blacklaw -- 25 Years

Mr. Blacklaw came to Canada from Dundee, Scotland in 1919 and settled in Lethbridge, Alberta. In 1925, he came to our fair city and has been working at the Bay since that time. He served in the Hardware and Sporting Goods and is now with Housewares where he keeps a watchfull eye on incoming merchandise in their receiving room.

Peter excels in swimming and is a member of the Y.M.C.A. he undoubtedly keeps in good practice. Next to swimming his favourite hobby is gardening.

Peter has twice been an active member of the Beaver Club Executive—first in 1934-35 and secondly in 1942-43. Others who were members at that time will always remember Peter as a hard worker in social affairs and sick visiting.

Best wishes Peter for continued success at the Bay.

Peter Blacklaw

Nelson Courage — 25 Years

We welcome a new member to the Store's 25-year group in Nelson Courage, of the Furniture Workroom who received extra holidays and a cash award in July. Mr. Courage is a French polisher by trade and a skilled workman. Much of his time is spent fixing marks and scratches on furniture in customers' homes, that's why we don't see much of him in the store.

A great lover of canoeing, swimming and fishing, Nelson built himself a fine home on the banks of the Red in Norwood. At present he is engaged in cleaning up after the devastating flood. Mr. Courage has two boys, of 19 and 23; another son, in the R.C.A.F. was killed in the war. A great home lover, Nelson likes gardening and keeping things ship shape around his property. We hope his house will soon become a real home again and he and his family enjoy many more years of good living.

Winnipeg Store Entertains Governor's Club Winners

On Monday, August 14th, seven top sellers from Western Stores arrived in Winnipeg for a holiday as guests of the Company. They were: Mrs. Isobel Cameron and Mr. B. Atkinson, Victoria; Mrs. Lil Falconer, Mr. J. Hughes and S. Segnoe of Vancouver; and Mrs. E. McLean and J. J. Flanagan of Calgary.

Bright and early Tuesday morning they were guests at a breakfast in the Georgian Room, attended by the Governor's Club Winners and Runners-up from the Winnipeg staff. Under the guidance of Percy White the morning was spent on a store tour, from roof to sub-basement . . . followed by a luncheon as guests of the store executives. After some free time to shop, rest, or visit, the visitors were taken on a boat trip down the Red, past Selkirk to the river's mouth. Box lunches, songs and dancing. were enjoyed and to end a memorable day the party had a midnight meal at the New Nanking restaurant.

Wednesday morning was spent in Page 4 touring Wninipeg . . . viewing its chief buildings and parks and of course pointing out some of the areas that were inundated by the flood. A drive to historic Lower Fort Garry was next on the agenda and the visitors were thrilled with its beautifully flowered grounds and ancient buildings. A splendid lunch was served and many souvenir snapshots were taken.

In the afternoon Hudson's Bay House was visited. They were welcomed by Company officials and entertained to tea in the staff rooms. After a breathing spell the party spent a happy evening at one of Winnipeg's "night spots." Next morning they were escorted to the train and departed, tired no doubt; but we hope, filled with pleasant memories of a wonderful holiday.

Miss Sweet has since received letters from Mrs. Elsie McLean of Calgary, Mrs. Isobel Cameron and Bernard Atkinson of Victoria expressing appreciation for the grand time they had. In reply, we at Winnipeg must say we enjoyed every minute of their visit.

What Is Hudson's Bay Company?

Some say that it is the oldest business institution on the American continent.

Some say that it is a Great Fur Trading Company.

Some say that it is a large chain of department stores operating in the principal cities of the west.

Yes, it is all these things; but we as a part of Hudson's Bay Company know that it is much, much more.

It is pleasant working conditions and shorter hours.

It is pride in the quality and honest value of the merchandise we sell.

It is the smile in the voice over the phone.

It is the everlasting training of young hopefuls.

It is the knowledge that good efforts will be rewarded . . . with promotions from the ranks.

It is the Governor's Club trip to the coast each summer for leading salespeople.

It is the extra cash in your pay envelope when you offer an acceptable suggestion.

It is the extra holidays and cash awards for long service.

It is the generous discount on your purchases in the store.

It is your quarterly "Beaver" and "Bayonet"—your weekly "Bayette"—keeping you posted on staff and Company news.

It is the weekly half holidays the year round.

It is the annual 2 weeks-with-pay in the summer.

It is the store hospital . . . the Doctor and Nurses at your service every day.

It is the store's visiting nurse at the bedside of a sick employee.

It is the knowledge that your pay goes on when you are absent through illness.

It is the happy crowd lunching in the staff cafeteria . . . reading and resting in the staff lounge room.

It is Bill Jones the porter playing golf with the 'boss' in the store competition.

It is the open heart to every worth while call of human need . . . Community Chest, Red Cross, Children's Hospital and similar appeals.

It is the courtesy and year after year safe driving of our delivery men.

It is the Annual party to long service employees.

It is never-ending vigilance to uphold our pledge . . . "Bay Customers Must Be Satisfied—Always."

It is realizing that every manufacturers representative has a right to earn a living . . . and giving him a courteous hearing when he calls.

It is the substantial grant of money, based on years of service, you receive when you retire.

It is the Company's continued interest in pensioners and retired employees . . . their monthly teas and summer outing.

That is Hudson's Bay Company . . . not the bricks and mortar and fixtures that form the Store . . . not our unparelleled history . . . but the understanding heart and humane policies that make working conditions at the Bay second to none.

Holiday In Britain By M. MUIR

Miss Muir admires a magnificent Rhododendron bush at Cutzean Castle, Ayrshire.

Breathes there the man,
With soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land —

These immortal lines by Scott kept running through my mind this summer, and I felt very proud to be of Scottish stock, as I rambled around the old land on a memorable holiday.

Rose Corby. Art Needle, and the writer, decided to fly to Britain in April and the wonderful vacation we spent over there will never be forgotten. We were given a great send off and bon voyage gifts by fellow employees and left for Montreal on April 28th. Here we boarded a plane for Gander, Newfoundland, but soon found ourselves flying back to Montreal. Oil leakage was the trouble. Off again after a brief delay and we reached Gander at midnight. From there the journey across the Atlantic was uneventful and in no time at all, it seemed, we reached Shannon Ireland. What a lovely sight, Ireland from the air, it's truly named the Emerald Isle—a patchwork of the greenest of green fields. Shannon Airport is beautifully appointed and the service we received was outstanding. Soon we were off by air to Prestwick, Scotland where a royal welcome awaited us. Rose left me here and flew to London to holiday with her own folk.

I started sightseeing without delay, my first stop being Ayr. I saw Bobbie Burns' Cottage, the Auld Brig-O-Doon and many other historic spots immortalized by Scotland's Bard.

A highlight of my trip was a week-end spent in motoring along the "Road to the Isles" into the romantic Highlands of Scotland.

The rugged hills, the brooks, the sheep and lambs, the picturesque Crofters cottages and the bonnie heather (it hadn't turned purple yet) were enjoyed to the utmost. My tour took me to Appin in the Stewart country, to Perth, to Crieff, Fort William and back via Loch Lomond. The weather was perfect all the way.

Glasgow was next on my schedule—with its fine streets and stores, busy factories and beautiful suburbs.

I visited lovely Rouken Glen, so often talked Page 6 about by by mother—and went to the wee village of Shotts, my birthplace. I was too young when the family emigrated to remember the place; but was royally welcomed and heard many nice things about my parents, which did my heart good. The next week was spent at Motherwell where I saw David Livingstone's home and witnessed the unveiling of a plague in memory of this great Scottish missionary. My next thrill came on a trip to the Kyles of Bute and a sail into Rothsay Bay, where the old C.P.R. Steamer, Montcalm was moored. It was a grand sight to my Canadian eyes. Soon I was off to Edinburgh, Scotland's capital, and no wonder it's natives rave about its beauty. The ancient castle perched high on a rocky hill overlooks a lovely park and gardens and Edinburgh's world famous Princes' St.-lined with magnificent monuments, public buildings, hotels and stores. I toured the historic castle and was particularly impressed with the National War Memorial to the Scottish dead in World Wars 1 and 2. In Edinburgh I was pleased to meet a former Bay employee, Margaret Seaton when on a conducted tour.

London was my next headquarters and from there I visited Bognor, Scarboro and Bournemouth; and saw Kent, the Garden of England, truly a beauty spot I shall long remember.

I toured Westminster Abbey, St. Pauls, Canterbury Cathedral, Hampton Court, Windsor Castle and the Tower of London. Rose and I received a cordial welcome at the Company's London Offices. We were shown around Beaver House by Mr. Campbell and Mr. Pearce, saw the Auction Room and the Fur Vaults and to cap it all our hosts entertained us at dinner. All in all our visit to headquarters was a pleasant experience. After a round of the London stores we went to Stocton-on-Tees, then back to Edinburgh and Ayr. Our holidays ended with visits to Stranrear, Girvan, Culzean Castle and the famous golf course at Troon.

In our travels we met a host of fine people and made many friends who all showed great interest in Canada and a desire to visit the Land of the Maple.

How The Blanket Was Named

Joseph Leech a 19th century journalist in his "Brief Romances from Bristol History" describes how the Blanket came into being. His story tells how a certain Edward Blanket, in the fourteenth century, was formerly among the poorest members of the Weaver's Guild of Bristol. Retiring to rest one raging winter's night, he woke some hours later to find that snow had drifted upon his bed through the unglazed window. Unable to bear the cold, he rose and groped in the moonlight in the cellar below his booth among the bales of cloth. His hands, chancing to feel a roll of roughly-woven wool, he placed it over his shoulders and, throwing it upon the bed, was soon fast asleep. Awakening some hours later deliciously warm and snug, his eyes chanced on the wool covering. This gave him his idea. "I will experiment" he shouted to his spouse, "and make a bed covering and it shall bear my name "Blanket'."

Blanket became very rich, and was soon, tradition tells supplying bed-clothing to the English court and even to the unlettered Welsh, while Edward the first found them very useful to his army when campaigning against the scotch.

Whether the hoary legend be fact or fable we do not know but it makes a good yarn. T.F.R.

PERSONALITY SKETCHES By A. GIBB

Betty Snyder

The only complaint that could be made about a Bay decorated Wedding Cake. is that it is so attractive it might eclipse the bride. The next time you admire the delicate tracery and sugar flowers of a cake from the Bay Bakery, you'll know it's a product of Elizabeth (Betty) Snyder's artistic hands.

Betty was born and raised in Winnipeg and educated in Winnipeg schools. She early studied business methods with an eye to a business position, and meanwhile worked in the Bay Bakery. But she grew fond of her work and decided to stick with it. She's been with the Bay ten years this August.

Her artistic bent is indicated in other directions as well. She has sung in the Winnipeg Philharmonic Choir and the Bay Choir; she studies piano for a hobby. She's interested in dramatics too and has taken part in a few productions. When time permits she likes to do fine needlework.

Betty is quick and expressive in speech, and her manner is marked by pleasant little courtesies. She has a definite enthusiasm for her work and an artist's pride in her ability.

She takes an active part in the work of her church in addition to conducting a Sunday School class. She's a sharp expert on baseball and hockey scores.

May new designs never fail you Betty, and long may your fingers spin their fairy magic over Bay Wedding Cakes!

Bill Mahood

Special abilities are seldom so happily wedded to particular job requirements as they are in the case of Bill Mahood, foreman of the Receiving Yard. Every piece of merchandise from pianos to peaches, pins to perambulators, that comes into the Store, passes through Bill's hands.

He must decide where it belongs, inspect its condition, and check the accompanying documents. Freight bills, express sheets, customs sheets, et al, must be kept in sharp order if things are to function smoothly. He also plays the part of a traffic officer in directing the continual inflow and outflow of trucks.

Bill was born and raised in Winnipeg. He was wounded while serving 5 years overseas with the Little Black Devils in World War I. Since 1940 he's been a staff-sergeant with the R.W.R. Reserve. He joined the Bay in 1926 so that he has 25 years' service to his credit, almost all of it in his present position.

Bill suffers from an acute case of pride in his family. He has three daughters, Belma, Wilma, Alma, a son Bill who plays in the Pee-Wee All Stars, and one extra special grandaughter.

He has a very sharp memory and a thorough knowledge of store procedure—useful assets in his job. He cocks his head slightly in a flatteringly attentive manner when addressed and has an earnest way of talking.

We certainly hope that Bay-bound shipments will be received into your capable hands for a long while yet Bill!

Facts About Linen

- For greater appreciation of beauty
- For greater appreciation of quality
- For greater appreciation of durability

A beautiful linen tablecloth, whether it be plain weave damask or elaborately embroidered and lace inset, should be considered as much a piece of art as an oil painting or a statue. It is the work of many artists. Where it was made, the time and care taken in weaving and embroidering it; the countries that had a part in its creation; how far it has travelled before reaching its point of sale . . . all combine to make a captivating and romantic story. Following are some facts that we, as retailers, should know about the history, development and care of fine linens.

- Linen is made from the fibre of the flax plant, the strongest vegetable fibre known. Flax is more than twice as strong as rayon, almost twice as strong as cotton, stronger even than nylon.
- Table Linen is generally known as Linen Damask or Table Damask, sometimes simply as Damask . . . the word Damask meaning the pattern. This is made by a difference in direction of threads of the same uniform color.
- Excavators tell us that the use of linen was wide-spread before the dawn of history. Flax fibre clothes, woven 10,000 years ago, have been found in Switzerland in the ruins of the Neclithic Lake Dwellers.
- In the days of the Pharaohs, linen was the fabric of Egypt's aristocracy.
- The Romans found flax grown by the Gauls and carried the distribution of the fabric to England.
- The name "Linen" had not come into use until long after the fabric had reached a high state of development. It comes from the Celtic "Llin".

- Fields of blue-blossomed fiax grow tallest in the moist river valleys of the Nile Country, Ireland, Holland, Belgium, Russia and Oregon, U.S.A.
- Here is a fact that will surprise you... only one crop of flax can be raised every seven years. This means that in a whole century only 15 crops of flax can be harvested. That is why linen continues to be the aristocrat of fabrics, generation after generation.
- Experts must pick and comb the flax by hand. Even when the flax fibres are ready for spinning, experienced hands must supervise the various delicate processes. Not a step in the weaving of fine linen can be hurried.
- Most of the linen tablecloths in our stock were woven in Ireland. If the cloth is to be embroidered or embellished with cutwork the finished fabric is sent to China. Madeira or Italy, where fancy needlework is done. The cloths, when completed, are laundered and shipped to the importer. All of nine months to a year and a half may have elapsed and the cloths may have travelled around the world before reaching their point of sale.

HOW TO TELL LINEN FROM COTTON — takes practise and experience. Linen has a feel that is different from cotton. Linen has a sheen while cotton tends to be dull. Untwist a thread and pull it apart, . . . if it is linen the fibres will have a silky sheen. If it is cotton, the fibres will be dull.

It has often been said that there is nothing new about the idea of linen . . . but there is plenty. In recent years, new weaves,new colors, new uses for linen have added zest and interest to modern living. Decorative linens include tabecloths, place mats, run ners, scarfs, doilies, and guest towels. Utility linens are sheets, pillow cases, hand towels, glass, kitchen and dish towels.

COLOR IS QUEEN — in today's home and color in table linen is the vogue \dots color that dramatizes, that brings new vitality to your customers' tables. Darker cloths serve to enrich the background on which china, glassware and silverware sparkle like jewels.

Lighter tones such as silver grey, chartreuse, or yellow, make exciting settings when used with rich floral, darker toned or contrasting china, glassware and pottery.

THE DURABILITY OF LINEN makes it actually cost less in the long run. Irish linen damasks, bought for the bride's trousseau today, may still be in use on her Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Irish linen sheets will give a lifetime of sleeping luxury. Irish linen towels and dish towels will outlast any other type, even with the hardest kind of use.

ADVICE ON LINEN CARE. New linens should be washed thoroughly in cold water before being stored away. Linen should be stored in a dry closet away from steam heat . . . should never be placed on concrete or cement floors even during laundering. Home laundering is best. Wash in clean, medium hot water, using pure mild soap, or better, soap flakes. Rinse in fresh, clear water. Fold linen before ironing and iron with light touch while it is still damp. Avoid folding time after time in the same folds. Do not starch, because linen should be soft and silky.

Girls' Baseball Round-Up

The season had a late opening this year, but with real enthusiastic turnouts, the girls were soon whipped into shape.

Our first game was played at Sargent Park, against a strong aggregation from Eaton's. After a slow start, the Bay Sluggers got to the Eaton pitcher, and behind the able hurling of Jessie Krysanski (Correspondence) went all the way to a 19-18 win. This was the most outstanding game of the season.

From here on, a glorious trail of victories were chalked-up, the most notable, against Kresges at St. Paul's College, where Fran Porteous (Basement Dresses) held for a 3-2 win. We don't talk about the Winnipeg Electric Game!

Many thanks go to the girls who faithfully turned out night after night. They made it possible to build a team worthy of consideration . . . let's repeat our victories next year. To Lloyd Stankey, Les Lowe and Pete Kelley, our many thanks for your good work in organizing these enjoyable games.

Golf

After a delay due to the Flood the Men's Beaver Cup and Benjamin Cup Tourneys got under way in late June. First round of the Benjamin Cup was played at a Field Day over the Elmhurst Course, July 14th. Leading the field were F. Spiller, 80 and B. Gibson, 83. No other player came close. The final round of this scratch play competition takes place at Pine Ridge, September 14th and will decide who is the Store's Best Golfer.

The Beaver Cup Handicap Competition drew an entry of 50, divided into 4 groups. In the final of group A at September 1st was F. Spiller . . . awaiting the result of the H. Hamilton vs. B. Gibson match. In B group D. Koffman is in the final awaiting the result of the H. Short, N. Coley match. In C group A. Hunter and B. Bergstrom were furthest advanced and in D group L. Jocelyn and F. Hawryluk were leading.

The group winners will play off later for possession of this historic old mug. May the best man win!

Mixed Field Day

The Beaver Club Golf Club held their Fall Mixed Two-Ball Foursomes at the Winnipeg Beach Golf Course on Wednesday, September 6th.

A bus was chartered and about 40 players attended. Despite the wind, everyone agreed it was a perfect day. Golf was played first, followed by dinner and dancing until a late hour.

Prize winners were: Low Score—Elsie Powell and Tom Gislason; Low Hidden Hole—Jean Leach and Tom Parker; Booby Prize—Mary Harris and Bill Shmygol (we promised not to print their score).

The Golf Committee are planning a Wind-up Dinner and prize presentation to take place at the St. Charles Hotel on Tuesday, October 24th. Keep that date open, golfers . . . these affairs are noted for good fellowship and fun!

Lawn Bowling

A notable accomplishment was that of Bill Calder's this summer when he skipped a rink to the final in the Winnipeg City Lawn Bowls Championship Tournament. He lost out very narrowly . . . but has the consolation of knowing that he and his men from the Norwood Club are second best around these parts. Good luck, we hope you win top spot next year Bill!

A Noteworthy Record

Andy Gibb of the marking room has been ½ mile and ¼ mile Champion of Manitoba in the past—but he always wanted to gain the 1 mile title. In August, 1950, he accomplished his wish when he became the Manitoba Senior Mile Champion.

Good work Andy, you have a record of which to be justly proud!

The chubby, smiling youngster pictured here was a model in an ad for HB Point Blankets which appeared in the Beaver of December 1935. Today he is a rising young business man in the Winnipeg Ad Office. We won't keep you guessing . . . he is John MacKay son of the late Mr. Douglas MacKay, Publicity Chief and Editor of the Beaver during the 1930's.

Advertising

In Mid June the Ad office received a welcome visit from Joe Peterson, a former Bayite, now Ad Manager in Edmonton. He motored down, with wife and family and spent 10 days renewing friendships around Winnipeg.

A highlight of his holiday was the Ad Office Party in his honour, held at the Elmhurst Golf Club. Nine holes of golf, then a grand chicken dinner, followed by dancing and music. All in all it was a happy affair. Those in attendance were: J. Peterson, T. Reith, P. Kelley, J. MacKay, T. Simpkins, B. Gibson, P. Myers, Misses J. Williams, A. Wishart, E. Bernes, E. Hill, I. Gislason, L. Ewart and Mrs. J. Stocker and Mrs. Kay Johnston.

Mr. R. E. Standfield

It was with a deep sense of shock that we heard of the sudden death, in a Vancouver hospital on July 19th, of Mr. R. E. Standfield, Manager of the Vancouver Store.

Mr. Standfield served as Assistant Merchandise Manager in Winnipeg in 1932. He joined the Company on November 15th, 1926, at Vancouver, was appointed to Winnipeg in 1932 and the same year was promoted to Calgary as Store Manager. In 1937 Mr. Standfield was appointed Manager at Vancouver.

His many friends in Winnipeg extend sincere condolences to his sorrowing family.

Mr. R. J. Cooke

Another former member of the Winnipeg staff, Mr. R. J. Cooke passed away at Vancouver on July 20th. Transferred to Vancouver in September 1930 as China Department Manager he served in that capacity until his death. Mr. Cooke was well known to many on the Winnipeg staff. On their behalf the Bayonet extends heart-felt sympathy to his bereaved family.

W. R. Ogston

A former manager of our store, William Ogston died in a Toronto hospital on July 17th at the age of 65. Born in Scotland, Mr. Ogston came to Canada at the age of 16 and entered the Company's Fur Trade in 1902 at Norway House. He left after a few years to engage in other work and returned to the Bay in 1915 as office manager.

Mr. Ogston was manager of the old Main Street Store from 1922 to 1925 when he left the Company. Older employees who served under him have memories of his likeable personality and fairness at all times.

What A Difference One Small Letter Makes

Three successive notices in the classified column of a small weekly paper tell their own story:

March 22nd—"For sale, slightly used farm wench in good condition. Very handy. Phone 366r2. A. Cartwright."

March 29th—"Correction. Due to an unfortunate error Mr. Cartwright's ad. last week was not clear. He has an excellent winch for sale. We trust this will put an end to the jokesters who have called Mr. Cartwright and greatly bothered his house-keeper, Mrs. Hargreaves, Who loves with him."

April 5th—"Notice!" my WINCH is not for sale. I put a sledge-hammer to it. Don't bother calling 366r2. I had the phone taken out. I am NOT carrying on with Mrs. Hargreaves. She merely LIVES here. A. Cartwright."

M. B. Babynec gathered a group of 40 fellow workers in his home in July to tender good wishes to J. Mainwaring, Drapery Asst. Manager. Mr. Mainwaring is now in Calgary as Manager of the Drapery Department. Tom Parker on behalf of the gathering presented the guest of honour with a leather Brief Case.

Congratulations and best wishes for success to Mr. John Blair on his promotion to Assistant Manager in Floorcoverings!

Three Hebrew artisans, decorating a Catholic cathedral were intrigued by the actions of a group of nuns gathered about the altar. Finally one of their number made bold to inquire what the sisters were doing.

"Oh," explained one, "we are preparing to confirm a nun. It's—well, it's a sort of wedding ceremony wherein she becomes the bride of Christ."

"Ah," said the Jewish gentleman, "and is it permitted we should see this ceremony?"

The sisters conferred with each other, decided that no harm would come, and gave their consent. In due time the three Jewish workmen arrived for the ceremony and were seated prominently in a front row. A young priest, noting their presence, asked why they were present.

An Englishman lately had the brilliant idea of making a living by selling rabbit pies to travellers and tourists. He began in a very modest manner but soon he became famous throughout the region for the quality of his pies and business grew by leaps and bounds.

One day an old friend asked him "Where on earth do you find enough rabbits to keep up with the demand?"

"Well", said the pie salesman in a low voice "to tell you the truth my pies are not 100% rabbit, I have started to use horse meat with them to add filling."

And just what amount of horse meat do you use in your pies?" asked the friend.

"Well-50-50".

"50-50?"

"Yes-one horse, one rabbit!"
